School Committee - AEA Negotiations Continue

Bargainers Fail To Reach Agreement On Salary Scale

The School Committee and negotiators for Andover Education Assn. came closer together this week in their thinking on minimums and maximums for the 1968 teachers' salary schedule, but proposals for the step increases between were far enough apart to prevent agreement on a contract.

Both the School Committee and the AEA presented pay proposals that stipulated a $6200 minimum and a $9400 maximum for teachers with bachelor degrees, or a $600 increase over the 1967 minimum.

Both suggestions represent shifts in initial positions. The school department opened its bargaining some weeks ago by offering a $6000 to $9100 bachelor schedule while the AEA began bargaining by asking for a $6400 to $10,000 spread for teachers with a single degree.

The two factions now part company on the bachelor's schedule at the third step where the School Committee favors a $200 increase and the AEA is asking for a $300 increase. From there to the end of the schedule, the difference between the request and the offer is $100.

The Committee and the AEA are further apart on their proposals for teachers with advanced degrees. The School Committee proposes, for example, that teachers with masters degrees advance toward a maximum of $11,300 at the rate of $300 per step until the latter end of the schedule when step increases would be at the rate of $400.

The AEA wants $400 increases to begin with the fourth step and have the maximum effect level

Firefighters Bargaining Will Begin

Town Manager Richard Bowen will begin negotiations at 10 a.m. Friday with representatives of the AFL-CIO Andover Firefighters Union on a contract that would cost the town an estimated $60,000 in additional compensation for employees of the fire department.

The local's proposals were conveyed to the manager in a letter from Atty. Vincent F. Stulgis.

Requested are the following:

• A 15% across the board salary increase.

• Fifteen days sick leave with no limit on accumulation. (Present policy: one day a month with unlimited accumulation).

• Vacations as follows: 2 weeks up to 5 years (now 2 weeks after one year); 3 weeks up to 10 years (now 3 weeks after 10 years service); and 4 weeks after 10 years (now 4 weeks after 15 years service).

• Union dues to be deducted from salaries by the Town of Andover.

• A shorter work week (a reduction from 48 to 42 hours).

The union estimates that agreement to the proposals would cost the town $58,473.10, but Manager

Raytheon Considering Expansion

Questioned this week about reports that a major construction project is being planned for Raytheon-Andover, the missile manufacturer issued this statement for TOWNSMAN publication:

"Because of the expanding business activities of our Andover plant, we are evaluating the relative merits of renovation, additions or new construction in the area. No decision has been made."

Helicopter Service Operating

(A TOWNSMAN News Feature)
Caravans of sleepy-eyed executive wives, corporations guards and aggravated businessmen have been searching for a new and shorter route from Andover to Logan International Airport ever since the airplane began to dominate the field of business travel.

They have fought Route 1 rotaries, snaked their way along through traffic tie-ups created by fog and snow and circled as interminably on the ground as the airliners overhead in search of a place to park.

Now the search is ended. There is a shorter route - via helicopter.

On Dec. 8 Air General of Boston began operation of a charter service between Logan Airport and a macadam landing strip at Sheraton-Rolling Green Motor Inn. The pilot for the inaugural flight was Paul Twomey, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Twomey of 151 Hidden Rd., a veteran of service aboard choppers in the Vietnam War.

The flight to Boston takes just 12 minutes, shaving at least a half hour to 45 minutes off the time necessary for surface travel to the same destination, and officials say the rates are comparable with those offered by taxi companies - $16 one way or $29 roundtrip.

William G. Laffer Jr., president and treasurer of Air General, said Friday that the present schedule for service to Andover calls for one flight every hour, upon reservation. Additional flights will be added when there is sufficient demand.

The sandy-haired aviation executive said his company now averages more than 2000 helicopter flights a month to Logan Airport from other areas, transporting as many as 80 passengers on some days.

In service now are a total of eight copters, six of them piston engine planes and the other two jets.

Laffer said Air General is phasing jets into its scheduled activities and will have another two in service next month. The engine used in the jet copters weighs just 136 pounds as compared with the 600 pound piston engines in AG's older equipment. The former Air Force fighter pilot explains that this weight differen-

The Mysterious Tale of the Gratuitous Turkeys

This is the controversial story about two Christmas turkeys. These two turkeys recently caused a minor controversy in this town.

We must explain that it is our policy to give a 10% discount to all local churches, clubs, scouts and fraternal organizations. If they order ten turkeys they get one free. Let's call this free turkey Turkey C.

Another local food merchant has a different plan. Charitable organizations would get one free turkey for ordering a dozen. Let's call this free turkey Turkey P.

QUESTION NO. 1. Which represents the better buy, Turkey C or Turkey P? This has puzzled some people.

We are merchants, not mathematicians. But, employing our (old) math, this is how we see it. One free in ten is 10% free. One in twelve is 8 1/3% free. Ten percent is 20% MORE free turkey than 8 1/3%. This 20% EXTRA gratuity will buy a lot of fixings for turkey C.

QUESTION NO. 2. Guess where you will find hundreds of delectable "C" turkeys to help make your Christmas table more memorable?

Merry Christmas!

Students Participate In People-To-People Projects

The special projects of three Andover Junior High School organizations have given students at the school an unusual opportunity to help people in need - poverty stricken Appalachian children, patients at Tewksbury State Hospital and Andover servicemen far from home.

On "Bundle Day", the student government cooperated with Save The Children Federation to collect hundreds of pounds of clothing and footwear for the children of Appalachian. William E. Hart, principal, termed this children-to-children program of sharing "particularly appropriate in a time when the problems of poverty occupy such a large part of the national conscience."

The junior high Service Club has made dozens of stuffed animals and other playthings for patients at Tewksbury State Hospital. The toys are now on display in the west wing of the school, and will be forwarded to the Andover Red Cross for distribution at the hospital during the holidays.

Finally, through the Junior Red Cross at the school, a Christmas package has been prepared for every Andover serviceman whose name is listed in the TOWNSMAN as serving in Vietnam. The students received lists of desirable items from the Andover RC, collected them and shipped 24 packages.

Army Promotes Philip Sorota

Philip J. Sorota, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen S. Sorota, 254 S. Main St., was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Ft. Dix, N. J.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

Early promotion is based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

Students Want Canteen In New High School

Some 500 students - or 50% of the student body - at Andover High School favor the idea of keeping certain facilities in the new senior high building open after school hours for teen recreational activity.

This is what a committee of citizens has learned from a survey taken to measure student interest in a program planned around use of the school. The survey was handled by a sub-committee of teenagers headed by David Rozen and its represents one of the approaches taken to determining, in general, whether or not greater public use of school facilities is desirable and practical. The committee was established by the School Committee at the suggestion of one of its members, William A. Doherty, who specifically suggested the opening of a teen canteen when the new school is occupied.

Students favoring the canteen also favor a program run by the teens themselves and they would like a gym program, tennis and the development of a swim team, which the committee takes as an indication that teenagers would like to see a swim pool located on the high school campus.

In addition to the gym, students favoring a canteen expressed an interest in having the library, the cafeteria and a few meeting rooms available for activities. The heaviest percentage indicated that they feel the need of a place to hang around where they will not be pressured to move along and a significant minority said they would like facilities for pool and ping pong.

The general interest was in a canteen open about three hours a night during the week.

The teens want school dances to continue, but they would like better musical groups playing for them and they want approval for more informal dress.

Leslie Bartow, recreation director and chairman of the committee to explore broader use of public school buildings for recreational use, said this week that the committee now plans to work up a pilot program for a teen canteen at the high school which would likely center around opening the cafeteria for use by teens with adults on hand as consultants.

PHILLIPS DORMITORIES - Two of the residences in the senior complex around Rabbit Pond, Abbott Stevens House and Alfred E. Stearns House.

New Freedom For PA Seniors

In the recently completed report of the Phillips Academy faculty steering committee, one of the eight-man group's major concerns was the belief that "the senior year should be, to a much greater extent than it is now, a climax to a boy's Andover career and an effective preparation for his life after graduation."

Making specific recommendations for a senior residential unit, the committee worked from the position that "if he is to arrive at adequate recognition of the freedoms and responsibilities of maturity, the senior must be expected to exercise more individual and communal responsibility, and he should have the satisfaction of perceiving that he is treated as being more nearly adult than he was in the previous year."

In establishing the senior complex in dormitories around Rabbit Pond, the committee stressed the objective of creating a situation "in which good judgment, a spirit of cooperation, and the personal influence of adults would take the place of detailed rules". All major rules of the Academy still apply to the seniors, but greater freedom in study hours and the number of overnight and off-campus excursions has been granted. The administration of the senior complex is largely carried out by a committee of the housemasters of the dormitories rather than from the dean's office, thus implementing an earlier committee recommendation for decentralizing the control of student privileges and penalties.

The eight man committee also stressed the desirability of giving each senior some opportunity for a responsible role in the affairs of the school to promote "a greater concern for other students and a greater sense of responsibility for the welfare of the community as a whole".

Increased involvement of a greater number of seniors as proctors in underclass dormitories, student tutors, and participation in student-faculty committees concerned with school affairs were among suggestions mentioned in the report.

Peter Q. McKee, chairman of the senior housemasters, commented that it was premature to evaluate the success of "Senior City" in terms of the Academy's objectives. One student, however, a resident in senior complex, volunteered, "I feel that with added opportunities to leave campus and with more liberty to plan my own time, some of the pressure has been taken off. Being a senior seems to mean something now".

More seniors are also taking an interest in senior projects, a form of independent work in a field of special interest to them, which offers further opportunity to develop the self-reliance which the committee's report stressed. Changes in the academic program for seniors are also being contemplated, and currently, work is in progress on a sequence of interdisciplinary courses.

In the Steering Committee's report, there is also a large section discussing methods for improving the junior year (9th grade) with stress on easing the transition from home life to the pace of a large and complex boarding school. The faculty at the Academy is currently discussing ways of grouping the middle two years to further increase a boy's sense of making progress through different and specific stages of his education at Phillips Academy and his growth toward maturity.

Camp Fire

The Jr-hi Camp Fire Girls of Andover at a meeting early this month elected officers for their group. The following girls were installed: Kristine Jablonski, president; Nancy Anderson, vice president; Patricia Kelly, secretary; Ohia Newhouse, treasurer. The refreshment committee will be headed up by Margaret Hartrich and publicity will be handled by Karen Strobel.

For their service project this fall, the group has helped the Andover chapter of American Red Cross with gift bags for Vietnam and gift boxes for Bedford Veterans Hospital. In plans for this month is a hayride followed by a pot-luck supper on Dec. 21 and a trip into Boston to the Children's Theater on Dec. 27.

Betsy Young and Karen Strobel were prize winners in the candy poster contest of last month, which helped promote the sale of Camp Fire Candy.

Mrs. Louis Anderson, Mrs. Donald Strobel, Mrs. John Young and Mrs. J. M. Hartrich are guardians of this group.

The Horizon Club, which includes high-school-age Camp Fire Girls, reports the election of officers as follows: president, Linda Kopatch; vice president, Karen Nelson; secretary, Priscilla Young; and treasurer, Georgia Anderson. Their service projects for the fall have included helping the Andover chapter of the American Red Cross and the Recreational Therapy Aid Assn. of the Lawrence General Hospital. Advisors for this group are Mrs. Chester Kopatch and Mrs. Gerald Nelson.

W. Andover Party Sunday

Holiday gifts for children of the West Andover Community Assn. will be delivered by fire truck for distribution at the organization's Christmas Party on Dec. 17 at 1:30 p.m.

where it says Andover hires most masters degree applicants. Its proposal introduces $300 increments at the top end of the schedule.

Once Frederick Fitzgerald, chief negotiator for the School Committee, had heard the AEA counter-proposal, he asked that the negotiating be suspended until Monday at 8 p.m. Reporting after a brief caucus that the AEA pay plan sounded "excessively" expensive to him, Fitzgerald said that in his opinion there was "absolutely no chance" of selling the package to the town and the School Committee and that he would have to confer with the full school board before taking further action.

Prior to this point the two bargaining teams considered and agreed to contract proposals affecting sick leave, health insurance, personal absences from work, professional leave and longevity pay allowances.

(A fuller report on working condition agreements and negotiations will be carried in the Dec. 21 issue, following the next bargaining session.

They produce considerably less noise than the more familiar piston engine choppers, enough less that Rolling Green officials were tardy with their welcome for the inaugural flight. The chopper circled the Inn three times without attracting attention.

Tardy Patrons

As a special Christmas present to Andoverites, Memorial Hall is offering patrons a chance to return overdue books without embarrassment - and without charge!

A "No Charge For Overdue Week" will be observed from Dec. 26 to Dec. 30. Regardless of when books, records or magazines were due during 1967, or any other year for that matter, no charge will be made and no questions asked if they are brought in during the week of grace.

This offer applies to children's material as well as items checked out from the adult division. Books may be returned to the desk or put in the book deposit slot in the Essex Street side of the building.

Seaman Brian L. Austin, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Austin of 7 Longwood Dr., has returned to the United States aboard the guided missile frigate USS Wainwright following a seven month deployment with the U. S. Seventh Fleet in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Except for athletes, hardly anyone gets sufficient exercise these days to keep the body in condition. We ride where once we walked, and we sit to watch TV where once we used the time for active sports. To be fit, your body must have regular workouts. Research shows, that increased exercise has a direct bearing on your weight. It helps the body burn up calories faster but without a like increase in appetite. But there are many other advantages in exercise. It firms your muscles, tones your complexion, stimulates your circulation and keeps you on the alert. Even Slim-Janes require exercise, although in somewhat smaller quantities. Your scalp needs the same consideration as your body. bers in the state, would vote for a Right to Work law abolishing compulsory membership in labor unions, if the issue were placed before them at this time.

These findings were made known with the announcement by the Massachusetts Right to Work Committee of a state-wide public opinion study just completed by the Becker Research Corp. In making public the results of the survey, the Committee's executive director, William Demarest, described it as "a clear statement of the wide-spread revulsion in this state against compelling any worker to join a labor union under threat of losing his job."

"The people of Massachusetts strongly favor unions in principle," Demarest said, "but this study shows them to be much concerned at present about the unions' actual performance and, especially, about the compulsory union shop." The survey found that 69% of the adult population would outlaw the union shop by voting a Massachusetts Right to Work law. It also reported that 51% of union members in this state would vote for such a law.

Massachusetts citizens hold more positive opinions on these issues than the average person throughout the country, according to a comparison of the Becker study with a nationwide survey conducted two years ago by Opinion Research Corp., Princeton, N.J., employing identical questions. Only 61% of the U. S. population, according to the national survey, would vote for Right to Work laws, in contrast to the present 69% in Massachusetts. In response to the same question, 15% expressed "no opinion" in the national survey; only 9% in Massachusetts. In a related question, 50% of the Massachusetts public said that they "feel very strong concern" about this particular issue, in contrast to 38% nationwide.

The people of Massachusetts are definitely stronger in their approval of the labor-union principle: 82% favoring it, in comparison with 74% of the U. S. population. But, whereas only 58% of the U. S. public considered it "better to regulate unions pretty closely," 74% of Massachusetts citizens, when responding to an identical question would favor Government regulation of labor unions and 62% of the union members in this state would agree, the survey found. The 51% of Massachusetts union members who would vote for a Right to Work law now contrasts markedly with the earlier finding of the national survey: 36% of U. S. union members would have done so.

Becker Research Corp., successor to the New England affiliate of Opinion Research Corp., made headlines in Boston papers shortly before the recent mayoralty election, reporting the proportion of voters for the two final contestants. (Scientifically weighing the "undecided" response, the opinion-research firm was able to come within 2% of the actual outcome.) The study for the Massachusetts Right to Work Committee was conducted in September and October 1967. The Committee is a non-partisan group of Massachusetts citizens having the sole objective of outlawing the compulsory union shop.

Holiday Mail Is On Its Way

Merrimack College students have responded to the Department of the Army's request to bring seasonal greetings to American fighting men in Vietnam with a massive mail campaign.

Thomas Roche, student council president today announced that the week long letter writing campaign was brought to a successful close on Friday, Dec. 8. He said that the mail was forwarded to a special service unit at Fort Dix, New Jersey for delivery to Vietnam.

Roche commended the Merrimack College news paper editor and staff members for "the outstanding contribution made to the Department of the Army program by dedicating the Dec. 8 edition of the College newspaper to the American fighting men."

Volunteers Kick-Off 30th March

Volunteers from the Merrimack Valley chapter met in Andover to kick off the 30th Anniversary March of Dimes which will be held in January to aid in the fight against birth defects through programs of research and education and care across the nation.

A large representative group from the 47 communities within the chapter turned out to hear William R. Russell, director for the 3,000 National Foundation chapters, explain some of the important progress being made through research in molecular biology at the Salk Institute for Biological Studies in California, largely supported and built by contributions to the March of Dimes.

"Such Fellows as Dr. Francis H. C. Crick, geneticist, and winner of the Nobel prize for his work in discovering how genes are transmitted as body cells reproduce themselves; Dr. Jacques Monod, another Nobel prize winner, Dr. Jacob Bronowski, are studying different areas of molecular biology, genetics, immuno-chemistry and cellular biology to help us know more about ourselves. What makes us 'tick', what makes us stop ticking, or slow down, or go off beat," Russell reported.

He added that "today genetic counseling is available for many couples faced with a hereditary defect in the family through certain chromosome tests, tests for metabolic disorders which may cause retardation of the mind, and that this soon will be a routine thing in order to avoid having defective children."

Other speakers included Mrs. Arthur S. Hotch, New England

reg. volunteer advisor; Atty. Richard K. Donahue, Lowell, former aide to President Kennedy and 1968 campaign director; and William C. Collins, Lowell, chairman for the Merrimack Valley chapter.

MSGR. JOSEPH A. ROBINSON

Rt. Rev. Joseph A. Robinson, a native of Andover and pastor of St. Mary of the Assumption Church, Brookline for the past 16 years, died Dec. 10 in Brookline. He was 70.

Msgr. Robinson had served as a priest for 44 years. He was ordained in 1923 and first served as assistant chancellor to the late Cardinal O'Connell. He was a former member of the faculty at Emmanuel College, and served as a curate at both the Church of the Most Precious Blood in Hyde Park and St. Mary's in Waltham before being assigned as pastor of St. Stephen's Church in Boston. He also served at Blessed Sacrament Church in Jamaica Plain and at St. Francis DeSales Church in Charlestown.

From 1944 to 1951 he served as chaplain at the State Prison in Charlestown before assuming his post at St. Mary of the Assumption. He was raised to the rank of papal chamberlain in 1950, and in 1951 led the official Boston delegation to Rome for the beautification of Pope Pius X. In 1955 he was made a domestic prelate.

Msgr. Robinson, the son of the late William C. and Catherine (McDonald) Robinson, was graduated from Boston College and Boston University, where he received his Ph.D. in psychology of education. He attended St. John's Seminary, Mrs. Theresa McDonald of Andover, an aunt, is among his survivors.

A concelebrated Mass of requiem will be celebrated today at 10 a.m. at St. Mary of the Assumption Church, 5 Linden Place, Brookline, with Most Rev. Jeremiah F. Minihan, auxiliary bishop of Boston, officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Town Manager Richard Bowen lectured Wednesday on "Administrative Planning and Research" at Boston College for course offered by the Massachusetts Municipal Training Institute.

The Institute is attended by municipal employees from various communities.

The Board of Selectmen will meet next Monday and Tuesday to discuss the preliminary budget for 1968.

The town manager has signed a 1968 work contract with the AFL-CIO union representing employees of the municipal public works department.

Effective April 1, DPW men will be employed for a 40-hour work week instead of a 45 hour week. Manager Richard Bowen said this will not add to the number of employees but add to the cost of overtime, increasing the budget request for this expense by about 25%.

Raytheon Co. has been awarded a $3,882,070 modification to a contract for Sparrow III guided missiles by the U. S. Naval Air Systems Command.

The bulk of the work on the contract will be done at the company's missile systems division plants in Lowell and Bristol, Tenn. with parts to be done at Oxnard, Calif. and Andover, Waltham and Bedford.

The Universal Fence Co. Inc. of Andover, with a bid of $188,790.50, is the apparent lowest of four bidders for the installation of 4.6 miles of steel beam guard rail in the median of Route 1 in Peabody and Danvers.

Chaplain (Maj.) J. Edison Pike AFRes, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, was among those participating in the unveiling of an honor roll of chaplains who died in service at a recent meeting of the New England chapter, Military Chaplains Assn. The honor roll is in the Hanscom Field Officers' Open Mess.

Richard Hawes Joins Company In Connecticut

Richard J. Hawes of Andover has been named director management information systems, of Standard Screw Co. of Hartford, Conn. The company manufactures diversified products for home, farm and industry.

Making the announcement concerning this new corporate position, James A. Taylor, Standard Screw president, reported that Hawes will be responsible for policy, planning and implementation of the company's many electronic data processing operations and information systems at all its facilities. These include manufacturing plants and divisional headquarters in Connecticut, Ohio and Illinois, and distribution service centers in Massachusetts, Indiana, Texas, California and Oregon.

He will make his headquarters at the company's general executive offices in Windsor, Conn., home of the Hartford division, and location of one of Standard Screw's data processing centers.

During the past 16 years, since earning his bachelor and master's degrees at Suffolk University, Hawes has gained experience in the fields of industrial management, computer systems and data processing, and, most recently, has had sole responsibility for planning, designing, furnishing and operating the complex systems center of a major commercial airline.

Mr. Hawes, who has served as both a management consultant and university teacher in data processing and production control, has also been a lecturer and discussion leader for the American Management Assn. His memberships include the Systems and Procedures Assn., where he was an international director, and the Users Assn. of a major computer manufacturer, where he has served on the executive board as program director.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawes have two grown daughters and will be moving from their current home in Andover to the Hartford area in the near future.

Memorial Hall Library

Japanese Folk Tales On Children's Program

VILLAGE ANNEX TEXACO
14 NO. MAIN ST. - ANDOVER
QUALITY • SERVICE • SAVINGS

Programs for school-age boys and girls at Memorial Hall Library for the month of December are announced by Miss Elizabeth Russell, children's librarian. After school today Miss Russell will narrate two folk tales from Japan, "The Wonderful Talking Bowl" from Yoshiko Uchida's book, THE SEA OF GOLD and "The Mountain Witch and the Peddler" from Miss Uchida's THE MAGIC LISTENING CAP.

On Dec. 21, in time to help celebrate Christmas, Mrs. Henry Berry will tell two Christmas legends. She has selected "The Legend of Christmas" by Selma Lagerlof from Harper's MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU and for her second story, THE CHRISTMAS DOLLS by Carol Beach York.

Both programs will take place at 3:30 and those who would like to listen should meet in the children's room after school. There will be no story hour on Thursday, Dec. 28, due to the school holiday that week.

New Director

Andover's Town Manager, Richard Bowen, and the Memorial Hall Library Board of Trustees announce that as of Dec. 19, A. J. Anderson will become director of the Memorial Hall Library, replacing Miss Miriam Putnam who has been on leave since Sept. 15. During this interim Anderson has been serving as acting director.

School Visitors

Thursday, Nov. 30 two groups of children visited the library from the Mother Goose School, accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Erwin Neal and Mrs. Robert Donahue. They heard stories and records and took a tour of the library. Of special interest were the glass floor of the mezzanine and the large marble and bronze clock over the circulation desk.

Last Wednesday 37 ninth graders from Andover Junior High spent an hour on English laboratory research. They sought and found books, magazines and pamphlets on topics as diverse as poltergeists (see ghosts) famous basketball stars, motorcycle racing, skiing areas in the U. S., and money. They were interested in "Standard, size, etc." of money from all over the world.

The Junior High group of 33 on Thursday, had selected five topics for study that have been frequently in the news of late including sleep and dreaming; German war camps; pornography; popular music of the last twenty-five years; and major 20th century floods.

The students select the topics for research themselves, usually reflecting teen's interest in what is going on now, or what is making headlines. They sincerely want to find out what is behind catastrophes and war. Besides, these make exciting reading. In addition, they are pleased to discover that their interest in sports and sports personalities can be gratified while fulfilling the requirements of English lab.

"The tools they use for research are the same whether the topic is scholarly-sounding or not. The library is delighted to have them know we have the material they are interested in," said Mrs. Kenneth C. Vint, assistant librarian. "And we trust that they will always find it so."

Magazines Contributed

To all the readers who contributed magazines to complete the library's files, a large Thank You. Still needed are copies of Holiday magazine for the months January through May of 1967; Popular Science from February through May, 1967 and Business Week for March, April and May 6, 1967.

If you can find some of these around your house and would like to give them to Memorial Hall Library for its back file, please bring them to the desk. Or we would be happy to send for them

Gift Creche

A gift from Miss Edith T. Jones upon her retirement from the faculty of Abbot Academy has been used to purchase a hand carved set of creche figures. The creche is of olive wood, hand carved in Bethlehem and is on display for the first time at Memorial Hall Library in commemoration of Christ's birthday.

Book Lists

Available now are attractive lists of children's books for Christmas giving. Look for these either in the children's room or in the main lobby in the gay red dispenser in the center of the bulletin board.

New Fiction

The new fiction this week was largely purchased at the suggestion of library users who particularly wished to read the titles they selected from early reviews. If the one you want is not on the New Fiction shelf, feel free to put in a reserve order. Ask about reserves at the circulation desk.

New Staffer

Mrs. David Duncan is the helpful new staff member you have seen at the circulation desk this month. Mrs. Duncan, mother of three teenagers, has been active in Andover service organizations since the family moved here ten years ago, particularly with the League of Women Voters and the Parents League.

Her children are Cecily, a senior at Green Mountain College, Alexander who attends Proctor School and David who is in the ninth grade at Andover Junior High School.

Sherman Is AMP Grad

Frank J. Sherman III of 116 Main St., a system planning engineer for Boston Edison Co. in Dorchester, was graduated Dec. 8 from the 52nd session of the advanced management program of Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration.

The 52nd AMP class included 161 executives from 138 companies in the U. S. and abroad, as well as from the military services and other government agencies. Represented were 27 of the United States, the District of Columbia, Canada, Australia, and 15 foreign countries in the Middle East, Far East, Europe, Africa, Central America, and South America.

Designed to provide mature executives with an over-view of business administration and prepare them for the broad responsibilities of core management, the 13-week program was started in 1943, pioneering a development that is now world-wide in scope. The AMP alumni number over 6,000 and include nearly 2,500 men in the top positions in business and government in this country and overseas.

Until Christmas Addison Gallery at Phillips Academy will be exhibiting photographs shot in the period 1964-1967 by Stephen G. Perrin, editor and founder of the new monthly publication, The Boston Review of Photography.

This selection of 19 prints, all black and white, includes 11 large contact prints from 11" x 14" negatives (the most recent of the photographs shown) and 7 smaller prints; there's also one - the earliest of all - and the largest, an extraordinarily composed view of Stonehenge, at once asymmetrical and geometric, balanced on a central fulcrum, in which the composition of the photograph parallels the configuration of the ruins. In subject these photographs range: from portraits - some subtle variants on convention, some surprising juxtapositions of a figure in an environment - to studies of objects or forms, and textures - to landscapes, intricate and also infinite, as for instance, the night landscape dark in value with faintly discernible land, sea and sky and a brilliant small moon, clear even to its surface texture.

Perrin uses his equipment without tricks but with a precise knowledge of what it will do. It is his vision which is distinctive and perceptive.

Addison Gallery is open free to the public Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Editorial Comment

The Right To Work

The people of Massachusetts are more firmly committed to the principle of labor unions than those of the nation as a whole, but this would not deter at least 69% of the adult population from voting to outlaw the union shop if given the opportunity.

These are conclusions drawn from the results of a poll taken this fall by a public opinion research corporation for the Massachusetts Right to Work Committee, conclusions that lend weight to the Committee's argument for passage of a Right to Work law guaranteeing freedom to the man who wants to work where he pleases and negotiate for himself.

The poll — and we are assuming that it represents an honest sampling — is important for it includes figures to show that 51% of the people in Massachusetts who are members of unions are opposed also to compulsory union membership as a condition of employment. The figures indicate a stronger independence on this issue in Massachusetts than elsewhere in the country. In a national survey on the same subject, only 36% of the union members polled indicated that they would vote for a Right to Work law.

The United States has grown to such proportions and government has become so monolithic that people today are increasingly aware of the sacrifices they are asked to make for the good of society and increasingly jealous of the personal freedoms that are left to them. Perhaps this is the reason that 51% of the union members polled in this new Massachusetts survey have expressed a willingness to act in defiance of union policy and support a law that would guarantee freedom of movement to workers. No doubt some percentage of this number are people who belong to unions because they themselves were compelled to join.

Unions can always argue that no one is required to work in a closed shop; that every man is free to look elsewhere for a job if he does not want to join a union and enjoy the benefits of union membership. This is true, of course. Yet why should a free man have to consider a factor so unrelated to his competence and his job preference in seeking employment?

Whatever the legitimate advantages of a closed shop, there can be no justification for tolerating such an undemocratic solution to the problems of the working man in dealing with management.

The results of the Massachusetts Right to Work survey would seem to indicate that the majority is now in agreement with this point of view, something that the Legislature should take into account.

Operation Morale

The holiday season is rushing in upon us and preparations for family dinners, gift exchanges and vacations occupy our thoughts and consume our energies.

Because of all this activity, a great many people who had good intentions a month ago have probably procrastinated until it is very nearly too late to get a greeting off for holiday delivery to Andover men stationed in Vietnam.

An airmail card or letter would still make it, however, and we ask that you send them. War is a stinking lonely business any time of year, but it is particularly difficult to accept during seasons that are traditionally shared by families. Every message from home has special meaning then, even if it is a message from a stranger.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
With Christmas so near, many people have undoubtedly already begun the task of wrapping gifts and getting Christmas cards in the mail.

I hope that, amid the many things we have to do in preparation for the holiday, we will remember to support and use Christmas Seals.

These little seals, which are very attractive this year, have an important function. Contributions to the Essex County Health Assn, which coordinates the mailing of seals, support the programs of public education, research and testing aimed at eradicating tuberculosis and the respiratory diseases.

Every year, in each of the Essex County communities represented by the association, volunteer workers tackle the job of mailing Christmas Seals to nearly every home and business. Self-addressed envelopes for contributions are enclosed with the seals. I hope everyone will take a few moments to send in whatever they can to support this wonderful cause.

Tuberculosis, or for that matter, any respiratory disease, respects no one. It can strike anyone, at any time. Your health association is dedicated to a never-ending fight against this threat. It deserves the wholehearted support of each of us, for we all stand to benefit from it.

I also hope that everyone will remember to attach plenty of these

Hop Toads "Migrate" For The Winter

By Wayne Hanley

The toad that hopped beside your garden path a few weeks ago probably is a foot beneath that soil today.

How deep he is depends upon where your garden path is. In Connecticut the toad may have snuggled down less than a foot beneath the ground surface. In Maine or New Hampshire, he probably already has dug down 18 inches to two feet.

When the deep chill of winter smites the earth, even a Rhode Island toad should be about three feet underground. For while toads may fail to migrate south as birds do, they seem to do some migrating upward or downward within the earth as the fortunes of winter fluctuate.

Probably the toad that spent the summer near your back porch, catching insects attracted by the porch light, has dug into a comfortable berth where heat seeps through the cellar wall and gives some assurance against deep freezing.

A toad's brain is little more than a knot in his spinal cord. Biologists equate the toad's intelligence to that of fish — and fish are near the bottom of the wisdom barrel.

Yet, toads have some wisdom regarding climate. And, it's a good thing, too, since toads lack the capacity to regulate their body heat and become immobile in cold weather. Thus, the smarter toads begin digging in for winter before low temperatures restrict their muscular control. In northern New England, thrifty toads begin "thinking" about winter in late September. In balmy southern New England they can delay such thoughts another month.

If one has inspected toads, he knows that their hands are soft, almost fragile, and poorly equipped for digging. But toads do not depend upon their hands. On the edge of each hind foot, toads wear a horny pad, or "spade". When a toad digs into the earth, he digs in backward. He begins a sort of Watusi dance and sinks stern first.

Investigators who have studied wintering toads report that the animals not only dig deeper as the earth cools but also may rise toward the surface when the weather moderates. While these sound like sensible adjustments, they are difficult to explain, since hibernating toads appear completely lifeless and wholly insensitive to any stimulus.

Only the toads with enough weather wisdom to dig in early survive winter. Those that fail to catch on early enough freeze.

Down the Years with The Townsman

Among those who have been successful in hearing from friends was Charles J. Francis of the firm of Buchan and Francis. His brother lives there, Thomas Morton, School Street, brother-in-law of Mrs. John McGrath, was due in Halifax at the time of the disaster. A delay in loading his ship at an Atlantic port doubtless saved him from death or injury.

The marriage of Henry Hilton Wrigley and Miss Mary Agnes York took place Wednesday evening at the parsonage of Christ Church. Mrs. E. V. French gave an interesting talk before members of the Mothers Club. Her subject was "Vital Things in a Boy's Training."

Thomas E. Rhodes of Chestnut Street has composed a patriotic vocal two-step entitled "Over the Top Goes Sammy". Mr. Rhodes is the author of both words and music.

50 Years Ago — December, 1917
Seldom has Andover been stirred by any disaster as it has been by the accounts of the frightful explosion and storms which have devastated the city of Halifax. The disaster and consequent death of many of its citizens touches a number of our local families.

for this year only, the reason being the amount of time being devoted to the rationing program by the local school teachers.

The United State Senate yesterday confirmed the reappointment of John M. McDonald of 123 Chestnut St., as postmaster for Andover.

For the past two weeks it has been impossible for us (J. E. Greeley Co.) to obtain any of the cuts we always prepared our corned beef from, also sirloin steak. We get very little beef to make pot roast, or just ordinary beef for stewing.

10 Years Ago — December, 1957
The first major introduction of American-variety strawberry plants in Ireland is underway, through the help of Roger Lewis of River Road. The Lewis farm has provided 5000 plants of two varieties to an Irish jam manufacturer.

Lee E. Noyes has announced his candidacy for the Board of Selectmen and Board of Assessors.

Harry Axelrod of Alden Road was appointed to the Board of Public Works Monday night. Four votes were cast for Axelrod, two for James Devine and one was blank. The vacancy was created by the death of P. LeRoy Wilson. John S. Sullivan, 61 Salem St., has assumed new duties, as vice president in the administrative division of the National Shawmut Bank of Boston.

Drive Nets 85,000 Signatures

The opportunity for the people of Massachusetts to vote for a limited Constitutional Convention took a giant step forward this week when Secretary of State Kevin H. White confirmed the filing of more than enough certified signatures on an initiative petition to place the question on the ballot.

More than 85,000 genuine signatures were gathered throughout Massachusetts during the three months allowed - Sept. 6 to Dec. 6. In an official certificate presented to Senator John M. Quinlan, R-Dover, chairman of the Committee for a Constitutional Convention, White confirmed that 62,266 of these signatures were certified by the local Boards of Registrars of Voters. 3% of the state's voters - 61,236 certified - were necessary.

Barring technicalities, the people of the Commonwealth will have the opportunity to call a popularly elected Constitutional Convention for the first time since 1917.

Senator Quinlan, on receiving confirmation of the petition's success said, "A new era has opened up for Massachusetts. For the first time in many years an initiative petition has succeeded without any professional promotional backing and without the support of any established longstanding organizations.

"This drive was an amateur effort from beginning to end. It was, in the strictest sense of the word, a people's effort.

"It was exciting to witness people from all walks of life and from all corners of Massachusetts volunteering to help. It is encouraging that such a drive can succeed in the way our forefathers, who bequeathed us the initiative petition procedure, intended it to succeed.

"I rejoice that the people of Massachusetts will have the opportunity to decide this history-making issue - a choice denied them for 50 years."

For constitutional reasons there must be two affirmative votes by the people before the popularly elected Constitutional Convention can be held in 1971. The petition allows the people to vote in 1968 on whether they wish the question of holding a Constitutional Convention on the 1970 ballot.

The petition must be voted upon by both the Senate and the House of Representatives before the first Wednesday of next May. If defeated by the Legislature the petition's backers need gather a mere 10,206 certified signatures - 1/2 of 1% of the state's voters - between the 1st Wednesday of June and the 1st Wednesday in July of next year in order to guarantee its appearance on the 1968 ballot.

Senator Quinlan concluded, "While I personally favor the comprehensive approach to reform offered by a Constitutional Convention, it is conceivable that by 1970 the majority of our citizens may feel that sufficient reforms have been put forward by the Legislature to make a Convention unnecessary. Meanwhile, we have this petition as an insurance policy - a guarantee that if the job has not been done by the Legislature it can be accomplished by means of the Convention.

Following is the number of certified signatures allowed by the Secretary of State listed by counties:

Barnstable, 606; Berkshire, 2,224; Bristol, 3,307; Essex, 10,118; Franklin, 145; Hampden, 2,935; Hampshire, 2,000; Middlesex, 14,494; Norfolk, 15,309; Plymouth, 2,746; Suffolk, 2,827; Worcester, 5,555.

Be An Expert

Select A Tree That Will Stay Fresh

Be a tree expert! Select the best Christmas tree and enjoy the holidays by having a fresh, sturdy Christmas tree without worrying about shedding needles.

The best Christmas tree for indoor use retains its needles two to three weeks in a heated room. Douglas and balsam firs are ideal for indoors, but spruces, especially Norway spruces, have a tendency to shed needles much sooner.

Touch the needles. Fir needles are flat, soft at the tips and evenly spaced. Spruce needles are sharp, pointed, stabbing to the hand. Balsam twigs form a little cross at the end of each branch.

Above all choose a Christmas tree early this year so it will be fresh. Freshness is a state of preservation, and with very little care a tree can be kept fresh long after Christmas.

Before buying a tree, check it over first. Be wary of the tree dealer who will not permit you to check out a tree.

Bounce the butt of the tree on the ground. If needles drop, the tree has begun to dry out. Next, run your finger across the stump. If it's sticky, the tree is still fresh. The tree also should have a fragrant odor and healthy green color. Brown patches are signs of dryness and possible fire hazards.

Spread the lower branches of the tree. They should measure half the tree's height and be springy and sturdy to support ornaments and lights. The stump should be several inches long to provide good anchorage and adequate drinking wares to soak up water.

To make a tree last longer, cut an inch or two on a slant from the base when you get home. Then, peel back the bark another inch. Now place the tree in a bucket of cold water. Many home owners prefer a 10% sugar solution, adding either sugar or syrup to the water. Keep the tree outdoors on a porch or in a cool garage until it is ready to be decorated. Occasionally, sprinkle the branches with cold water. Keep the pail filled with water.

Children, 7-12, are invited to help decorate a Christmas tree, outdoors, on Saturday, Dec. 16, 10-11 a.m. at the Ipswich River Sanctuary, Topsfield. Berries, fruits and seeds will be provided, and the decorated tree will supplement the food supply of the birds during the winter.

David Hill, forestry expert, will take families on a walk through the evergreen woods of the Ipswich Sanctuary, Sunday, Dec. 17, 2-3 p.m. He will describe the commercial uses of these trees with particular reference to their history as Christmas decorations.

Four specialty shows will highlight the 54th annual Eastern Dog Club show and obedience trials to be held on Dec. 16 in War Memorial Auditorium at the Prudential Center in Boston. They will be conducted by the Bulldog Club of New England, Downeast Belgian Sheepdog Club, Newfoundland Club of America (N.E. section) and Siberian Husky Club of America. The latter club is expected to draw more than 100 of the breed and will feature a sled dog class.

Previews for "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown," New York's newest musical hit, begin Thursday, Dec. 14, at the Wilbur Theatre. The new musical is based on Charles M. Schulz' comic strip "Peanuts" with music and lyrics by Clark Gesner. Joseph Hardy who staged the original New York production is also directing the Boston company. The show is scheduled to have its Boston premiere on Tuesday, December 19. The new musical will be on a Tuesday through Sunday schedule at the Wilbur Theatre with matinees on Saturday and Sunday. Featured in the cast of "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" are Barry Pearl, Ann Gibbs, Rena Fredrics, James Rickerts, Bob Becker and Joel Kimmel in the roles of Schroeder, Lucy, Patty, Charlie Brown, Snoopy and Linus, respectively.

A popular price ticket policy will be in effect for the show with the tickets priced at $5.50 in the orchestra, and $5 and $4 in the first balcony for the Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday evening performances and the Saturday and Sunday matinee shows; on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings tickets are $6.50 in the orchestra and $6 and $5 in the first balcony. Jujamcyn Productions and Arthur Whitelaw and Gene Persson are the producers of the Boston production of the show which will become the fourth "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" company with other productions now in San Francisco, Toronto, and New York, as well as one in Sweden.

250 Attend Consecration Service

Some 250 worshippers, many of them representing Greater Lawrence congregations, attended a special afternoon service Sunday consecrating the new Ballard Vale United Church building which is located at the corner of Hall Avenue and Clark Road.

Delivering the sermon, jointly, were Bishop James K. Mathews of the New England conference of the Methodist Church and Dr. Albert J. Penner, president of the Massachusetts conference of the United Church of Christ.

Other church officials participating were Rev. Robert E. Bosendorf, who is pastor of the Ballard Vale Church; Dr. James Uhlinger, Lynn district superintendent for the Methodist Church;

Rev. A. Karl Phillippi, area minister for the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ; and Dr. Leslie Johnson, executive secretary of the board of missions, New England Conference, Methodist Church.

Greetings were brought during the service from the Town of Andover by Town Manager Richard J. Bowen and Selectman Sidney P. White; by Neal Mitton, chairman of the church building committee; Bill Ash, treasurer of the Andover Council of Churches; Ernest N. Hall, builder and chairman of the board of trustees; Elden Salter, lay leader, who read some of the many congratulatory telegrams and letters; and by the architect, Eric I. Brainerd.

The senior choir of the church, accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Gilbreath, organist-choir director, provided music for the dedication service.

Earlier in the day Rev. John Smith, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church and coordinator for the Cape Ann Methodist Parish, spoke at the morning worship.

The Ballard Vale building project has been supported in part by contributions from the Methodist Church board of missions. Now the church has received an initial contribution of $1000 from the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ. This was presented Sunday to the chairman of the building committee.

Missionaries

Will Forego Family Holiday

Eight missionaries of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, working in the Andover area, will forego Christmas with their families this year so they can bring their message to local families.

"We find that during the Holiday season, people are especially interested in our message," said Sister Helen Hoopes of North Andover, who supervises missionary activities in this area, "because this is a season when most everyone gives special consideration to the birth and mission of Jesus Christ."

Sister Hoopes said part of the Latter-day Saint message which creates special interest is the description of the birth, death, and Resurrection of Jesus Christ contained in the Book of Mormon, which Latter-day Saints accept as scripture along with the Bible.

"The Book of Mormon is a history of God's dealings with a nation of people who lived here on the Western Continent before Columbus," continued Sister Hoopes, "it supports the account of the birth and life of Jesus Christ as given in the Bible which, we feel, gives even more meaning to Christmas because it helps to answer those who may not believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God."

the manager estimates what effect the reduction in the work week would have on the fire department budget. The manager did say this week that if the department went on a 42 hour week it would either have to hire more men or spread the present force thinner.

The Andover Firefighters Union estimates the cost of its 1968 contract proposals as follows:

	Actual	Predicted Increase
	1967	1968
Salaries:	$337,149.40 *	$50,580.66
Holidays	13,149.40	1,972.41

The chapter plans a plastic housewares party for Friday at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Eugene Hand, 75 Central St. The display will include suggestions for gifts for the holidays as well as everyday items. Anyone is welcome to attend.

New Year's Resolution - Buy U. S. Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares regularly where you work or bank.

The cash value of Series E and H U. S. Savings Bonds outstanding is now more than $51 billion.

Open House Tea

Give an Open House Tea during the holidays... it's a gracious and inexpensive way to entertain all your friends and neighbors, young and old alike. Because guests will be dropping in over a span of several hours you can handle a large number of people without undue crowding or trouble.

Keep refreshments simple - thinly sliced pound or fruit cake, crisp holiday cookies, mints, nuts - and remember to replenish the platters from time to time. To simplify the tea service, make a strong tea concentrate ahead of time... then dilute it with hot water at the table. Here are directions for making a quart of concentrate, enough for 25 cups of hot tea. For 50 servings, simply double the recipe.

Hot Tea Concentrate

1. Pour one quart of boiling water over 2/3 measuring cup of loose tea.
2. Cover. Let stand 5 minutes.
3. Stir and strain into a quart teapot. (Use within 4 hours and keep at room temperature; do not refrigerate.)
4. When ready to serve, pour 2 tablespoons of concentrate into a cup and fill up with hot water.

Friends Honor Former Resident And Her Husband

Sp./4 and Mrs. Nickey L. Jones were recent guests of honor at a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Downs, 217 High Plain Rd., Mrs. Jones' parents.

More than 100 friends and relatives attended to meet the U. S. Army serviceman and congratulate the couple on their marriage last April in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Specialist Jones is a veteran of a year's service in Vietnam. He and his wife were married last spring while he was on leave from active duty. They are settled now in Fitchburg and Specialist Jones has been assigned to Fort Devens for further training.

Over 25,000 hours of training and employment are provided by Goodwill Industries to handicapped

CAR Will Meet Jan. 13

Andover High School students who attended an Outward Bound School last summer will speak at the Jan. 13 meeting of Samuel Osgood Society, Children of the American Revolution.

At the December meeting, members of the CAR learned more of "The Winter at Valley Forge", with the assistance of Miss Elizabeth Russell, children's librarian at Memorial Hall Library. A recording about events during the winter of 1777-78, presented to the library by Priscilla Abbot chapter of the DAR and film strips were used in presenting the story.

Preceding the program, the business meeting was conducted by Susan J. McGrath, president. Reports were given by Patricia Kenyon, recording secretary, and Sue Otto, treasurer. Committee reports included one from Robin Otto on how to display the American Flag with other flags and pennants, one from Norma Kenyon on the preservation of forests, and one from David Thompson on George F. Root, Massachusetts musician and composer, who wrote songs during the Civil War.

League Gives Holiday Party

A group of 8th graders of the North Andover-Andover Parents' League gave a Christmas party for Puerto Rican children in the area at the International Institute in Lawrence on Dec. 13.

Santa Claus distributed gifts and the 8th graders ran games and served refreshments.

The generosity of several local merchants in making this party possible is greatly appreciated by the Parents' League, which sponsors this annual event.

Gray - Marland

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Marland of 8 George St., announce the marriage of their daughter, Gail A. to Cyrus C. Gray Jr., of Danvers, son of Cyrus C. Gray of Los Angeles, Calif. and the late Mrs. Gray. The wedding took place Nov. 10 at West Parish Church, Rev. Clinton Carvell, pastor emeritus of Trinitarian Church of North Andover, officiated at the double ring ceremony by candlelight before the altar which was decorated with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums, white carnations, eucalyptus, ferns and ivy.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a floor length gown of white velvet with train, a matching velvet pill box hat with shoulder length veil of illusion attached and she carried a bouquet of miniature white carnations and ferns surrounding a white spider chrysanthemums. Her attendant was her sister, Mrs. Heaton L. Bullock of St. Louis, Mo., matron of honor, Miss Heather L. Bullock, the bride's niece was flower girl. Both Mrs. Bullock and Heather wore floor length gowns of crimson velvet and carried miniature crimson and white variegated carnations. They wore crimson velvet headbands covered with matching fresh flowers.

Mr. Gray's attendant was Peter Duncan of Danvers, best man. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Andover Inn. Following a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., the couple settled in Marblehead.

Prior to her marriage Miss Marland was entertained at a bridal shower given by Mrs. James J. O'Reilly at her home on Princeton Ave., and at a dinner and shower at General Glover House in Swampscott, given by her associates at Jordan Marsh Peabody store. Miss Marland and Mr. Gray also were honored together by fellow employees of Jordan Marsh, at a party held in the Proctor House in Peabody.

Mrs. N. Timothy White (Lovell Labs)

White - Croteau

Miss Pauline Croteau, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hervy Croteau, 180 Beacon St., became Mrs. Norbert Timothy White in St. Augustine's Church Nov. 18. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert V. White, White Farms, Ipswich.

Rev. James A. Wenzel celebrated the nuptial Mass at which the couple received Holy Eucharist under two species and received the Papal blessing.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a white gown of dulcet satin and French re-embroidered Alencon lace. The gown was enhanced by elbow length sleeves edged with the same lace and a detachable chapel train. A bouffant four-tier veil of illusion fell from an open leaf headpiece decorated with sequins and pearls.

The new Mrs. White was attended by her sister, Lorraine Croteau, as maid of honor. Her bridesmaids were Miss Gerri White, of Ipswich, sister of the groom, Miss Rosie Walsh of Topsfield and Miss Jeannette Croteau, sister of the bride. The attendants wore rose Empire gowns of chiffon trimmed with lace at the waist and sleeves and matching headpieces.

Robert White of Ipswich served his brother as best man, and ushering were J. J. MacDonald of Rowley, Robert Pelletier of Andover and Jack Penny who is serving with the U. S. Navy at New London, Conn.

The mother of the bride wore a dress-coat ensemble of pink, with matching accessories to receive guests at the Briarcliff reception. The bridegroom's mother was in an ensemble of blue with blue accessories, and both women wore white orchid corsages.

The bride is a graduate of Andover High School and has been associated with the Andover Companies. Mr. White is a graduate of Essex Agricultural Institute of Technology, and spent four years in submarine duty in the U. S. Navy before returning to Ipswich where he is associated with White Farms. After a Caribbean cruise to the Virgin Islands the couple has settled in Ipswich.

Something For Everyone

New Auto Insurance Plan Proposed

A new method of paying auto accident victims has been proposed on an experimental basis by a group of 122 insurance companies.

"Our objective is to pay more people, pay them quickly and equitably, and to eliminate as many as possible of the irritants which have made the auto liability system the target of increasing criticism," said Paul S. Wise, general manager of the American Mutual Insurance Alliance, Chicago. He said experiments will be conducted in the next few months with the plan, called the Guaranteed Benefits program.

"As the name implies, the Guaranteed Benefits program, if adopted, would guarantee at least some payment to all auto accident victims," Wise told insurance executives attending the Mutual Insurance Technical Conference.

Under the Alliance proposal, auto insurance companies would automatically pay the medical expenses of all auto accident victims, up to $5,000. Claimants also could elect to receive up to $7,500 in additional payments for income losses and other damages, including physical impairments. These benefits would be offered promptly to all persons injured in auto accidents, regardless of who caused the accidents. Claimants who chose to accept these additional benefits would avoid the inconvenience, expense and risk of pursuing a liability claim based on the alleged negligence of the other driver. Alternatively, claimants could reject the additional benefits and file suit or bargain for a settlement based on proving fault.

"Our program preserves the right of every claimant to have his day in court, if he wants one," said Wise.

In two-car accidents, claimants would be offered Guaranteed Benefits by the other driver's insurer. In one-car accidents, they would collect from their own insurance company. Claims for damage to vehicles would be handled by present methods.

The hope is that the reduced expenses of handling bodily injury claims without controversy and red tape would offset the additional expense of paying accident victims who would not be entitled to payment under today's system. This will depend on how many and what kind of claimants elect to accept the Guaranteed Benefits, said Wise. One key question is how the extent of injuries will affect the claimant's decision to accept or reject the Guaranteed Benefits option.

"Instead of speculating about such questions as public acceptability and cost, we prefer to go directly to the only people who can supply the answer - auto accident victims," he added. Wise said Alliance member companies in the very near future will "go into the field and offer traffic accident victims our Guaranteed Benefits package as an alternative way of handling their auto liability claims."

Other insurance companies also will be invited to participate. Location of the area to be used in this experiment has not been announced, Wise said, but it will include both urban and rural populations.

Because of legal restrictions imposed by present insurance policies, companies participating in the experiment will have to limit their offer of the Guaranteed Benefits option to accident victims who have at least some basis for filing a liability claim. However, Wise said data will be collected on all auto accident victims included in the sample, whether they are paid or not, for purposes of cost analysis. An academic facility has been asked to assist in analyzing the information obtained in the experiment, and all data will be released to the public.

Wise said announcement of the Guaranteed Benefits proposal is the culmination of studies started more than five years ago by the Alliance, a national trade association of 122 mutual companies writing fire and auto insurance and other property-liability coverages. He said the Alliance believes basic improvements in the present method of paying auto accident victims are "urgent and necessary." But he indicated that change, to be acceptable, must "keep in balance the interest of both the accident victim and the purchaser of insurance."

"This is not nearly so easy a task as some critics seem to think," said Wise. "The fact that proposals for drastic changes are not quickly adopted, despite the widespread desire for improvement, is simply an indication of the difficulties inherent in changing anything so complex as the liability system."

Wise said it would be easy enough to devise a system that would pay every claimant what he thought his injuries were worth, if that were the sole objective. But such a system probably would be unacceptable to the larger group of motorists who would have to bear the cost.

Nor would it be difficult to devise a plan which would reduce costs by arbitrarily deciding how much auto accident victims ought to receive, and by reducing their benefits accordingly. But this approach would not be likely to satisfy the needs and demands of the injured claimants.

Wise said the essence of the Guaranteed Benefits proposal is that it seeks to cure the defects of the present auto liability system without taking away any of the rights which the auto accident victim now has.

"The Guaranteed Benefits program reflects the shift that has occurred in public expectations concerning the basic purpose of automobile liability insurance. As originally conceived more than half a century ago, an automobile liability policy was designed to protect the driver of the car against lawsuits, not to compensate the accident victim. Legally, this is still the case. But public expectations have shifted more and more toward protecting the person who is injured. This is the emphasis which runs through our proposal," said Wise.

Heart Funds Contributed

Memorial gifts honoring late residents of Andover have been received by the Northeast Chapter, Massachusetts Heart Association, President Albert A. Consentino, M. D., said today.

The memorial gifts, given in tribute to deceased relatives and friends, make possible substantial additions to Heart Association programs of lifesaving research, education and community service.

Diseases of the heart and circulation account for more than half of all deaths in this community and state.

Honored were: Mr. Berger, Alfred Kneath, Mrs. Henry D. Rockwell, Mrs. Albert W. Wade, Mrs. Herbert E. Kempton, Mrs. Frieda Reymann, William Hudson, Mrs. Vernon R. Walker, Frank Robinson, Mrs. David Binnie, Herman Granz and Stephen L. Surawski.

Basketball

In games played at the Andover Youth Center Saturday the following results were recorded:

In the PEE-WEE DIVISION, the Celtics topped the Lakers (8-0). For the win B. Murgia had 4 points and Tim Murphy & M. McCormick 2 each. For the losers B. Burnham and M. Young starred. The Hawks beat the Hellcats (8-4). For the win J. Doherty had 4 points and G. Mizell and B. Peterson 2 each. For the losers T. Stamas & D. Rosenberg had 2 each. In the final Pee-Wee game the Chargers topped the Vikings (16-4). For the win G. Wynn had 6 points J. Cox 4, M. Johnson and B. Simonds and J. Fox 2 each. For the losers M. Gill and E. Boland had 2 each.

In the JUNIOR DIVISION, the Celtics beat the chargers (31-18). For the win S. White had 20 points, K. Dewhurst and G. Lynch 4 each. For the losers T. Murphy had 8 points and R. Perron 6. The Hawks topped the Supersonics (20-16). For the win B. Ferguson had 7 points, M. Sweetser 5, D. Sweetser and C. Bodge 4 each. For the losers B. Messersmith had 7 points and D. Hammerstrom 5. In the final Junior game the Cougars beat the 76'ers (28-9). For the win M. Charewicz had 10 points, B. Roland 8 and J. Alexander 6. For the losers A. Naman had 7 points and J. Jolie 2.

In the INTERMEDIATE DIVISION, the Warriors squeaked by the Trojans (23-22) as D. Hixon put in 2 foul shots with 4 seconds left in the game giving him 13 for the game. B. Gilday and G. Belpedio had 3 each. For the losers J. Wood had 11 points and M. Klempa 4. The final Intermediate game was equally as close as the Celtics edged the Yellow-Jackets (27-25). S. Alexander scored the winning basket with a minute left in the game, giving him 10 points for the game. M. Fanning had 7, K. Starks 6 and C. Fanning 4. For the losers K. Connors had 14 points and J. Burns and W. Powell and M. Morreo 4 each.

League Director Frank Monette reports that there is a great need for parents to lend a helping hand. He does not have enough people for scoring, coaching or referees. Games have been running late because of this. Interested persons are asked to telephone Monette.

Ensign Active

In War Games

Naval Reserve Ensign Stephen S. Sorota Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen S. Sorota of 254 S. Main St., participated in a joint Canadian-United States anti-submarine warfare exercise in the Western Atlantic while serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare aircraft carrier USS Essex.

Canadian Navy vessels combined forces with the Essex and six other U. S. ships to simulate the localizing, tracing and destruction of mock enemy submarines.

SOCCER PLAYER

Harper Follansbee Jr. of Hidden Field was one of the Trinity College freshmen to receive soccer numerals at the college's annual fall sports banquet. Varsity soccer letters were also awarded.

Harper is a 1967 graduate of the Governor Dummer Academy where he participated in hockey, lacrosse and soccer.

IRS Putting Old Andover On New Map

The word is out, Massachusetts taxpayers who expect to have a tax return this year are to file their return directly with the North Atlantic Service Center in Andover. This will certainly give Andover a new kind of notoriety?

For faster refunds, taxpayers in Massachusetts should mail their 1967 returns directly to the Internal Revenue Service Center, 310 Lowell St., Andover, 01812. An envelope addressed to the Service Center will be included in the 1040 package taxpayers will receive at the end of the year. Envelopes will also be available in the District Office.

Refunds will be processed faster if sent direct to the Center since this eliminates one handling operation.

A pre-addressed label showing the taxpayer's name, address and Social Security number is included in the tax package. Use of this label further expedites processing of refund returns. Before attaching the label to their tax form, taxpayers should verify all information they have recorded. Any inaccuracies should be corrected to insure prompt processing.

Returns that do not call for a refund should continue to be mailed to Internal Revenue Service, John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Government Center, Boston, Mass. 02203.

Eventually, however, the Bureau expects to have all residents in the North Atlantic service area filing returns directly to the Andover-based computer center.

Service Is Big Business

The United States Censor Bureau of Business has re-classified International Personnel Service Inc. as big business based on the average gross income per month for the last 12 months of operations. Frank J. Emmett operates an International branch in Andover at 20 Central St.

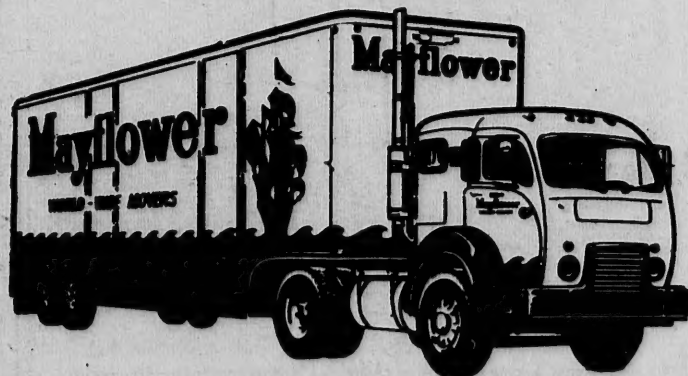

Re-classification of the service is unusual since personnel agencies are as a matter of record usually classified as small business.

The idea behind Goodwill Industries is to provide help for handicapped persons to help themselves."

Mrs. Paul M. Moomjian

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

It was beneficial of The Townsman to give us its strong opinion in its editorial on the School Committee-Teacher negotiations as well as D. S. Schofield's letter also expressing discontent with the effects of the negotiations.

However, it might well be that most of the cause of the situation delineated is the action of Town Meeting itself; at the behest of its principal officials to be sure.

EVENINGS 475-8002

Town Meeting, by approving excessive expenditures for far out school building design with but one bidder, has only itself to blame because teachers and other town employees now seek contracts which give them seemingly costly benefits.

The entire Bancroft School could have been had for, say $1,750,000. Yet Town Meeting, of which Schofield is a member, let itself be talked into a program that shall total nearly $2,400,000 to compete; or 30% more than is necessary. It is remarkable that there is nothing in the new teacher contract that gives anywhere near as much as 30% more than what is reasonably above average.

Accordingly, the point to keep in mind is that Town Meeting should reconsider its position that it can spend excessive amounts of money for far out school building designs, their appurtenances and equipment as well as for interest rates at the high of 4% plus. Nor should Town Meeting expect to call upon teachers, and those who are forced, literally, to contribute to the school program a second time, to accept less so that the bills can be paid.

That would be calling upon the few to actually subsidize the affluent so that they can enjoy far more than what is just and fair.

Harry Loebel Heads Raytheon Subsidiary

Raytheon Co. has put a new man in the top job at its Andover Hawk missile installation and shifted former plant manager Harry A. Loebel to the presidency of Raytheon Service Co., a corporate subsidiary which provides world-wide installation, operation, maintenance, training and other field services on a wide range of radar communications and defense systems.

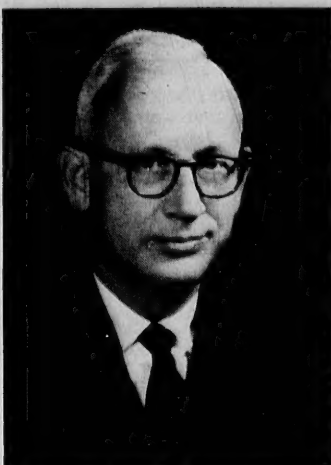

Loebel made the move into his new position last week and is headquartered in Burlington.

Named to succeed him is Joseph Glasser who was manager of the company's space and information systems plant at Waltham until his transfer. With Raytheon since 1945, Glasser has held a series of senior management positions.

He holds a BS in electrical engineering from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1935, and is a graduate of Raytheon's advanced management program.

On the same day that Raytheon announced Loebel would be leaving Andover, it reported also that it is expanding the field services activities of the company he now heads.

Included in the expanded activities are Raytheon's electronic services operation and many of the field operations of the Saudi Arabia Hawk program, an air defense system being provided under the auspices of the U. S. Department of Defense and State.

The electronic services operation is engaged in engineering, installation, training, operation, and maintenance services on a wide range of complex electronic equipment and systems, both in this country and throughout the world. The systems include early warning, air traffic control, and weather surveillance radar systems; microwave communications; and defense systems.

Harry Loebel joined Raytheon Co. in 1958 and became manager of the Andover plant in 1962. Before that he was the company's NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) Hawk program manager and assistant manager of the local facility.

Earlier, he was manufacturing manager and treasurer of Northeastern Engineering Inc., Manchester, N. H.

He studied engineering at Mar-

Local Businessmen Seek CATV License

Officials of one of the two companies seeking a license to offer a community antenna television service in Andover met with the Board of Selectmen Monday to outline their proposal.

The initial presentation for Greater Lawrence Community Antenna Inc. was made by Irving E. Rogers Jr. of Andover, president of the Eagle-Tribune Publishing Co. of Lawrence and one of four area businessmen involved with the project. Appearing also were Curt Gowdy, president of Curt Gowdy Broadcasting Corp. which operates Radio Station WCCM and William F. Lucey Jr., business manager for the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune. The fourth principal in the newly formed company is Irving E. Rogers, publisher of the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune and the Andover TOWNSMAN.

Gowdy outlined for the Selectmen the history of CATV operations elsewhere in the country and explained how location of a high-power antenna in the Greater Lawrence area would expand television reception possibilities for residents and improve the quality of reception, particularly of color television.

Both he and Atty. Charles Morin of the Washington, D. C. law firm of Gadsby, Maguire and Hannah discussed with the board the legal uncertainties over whether state or federal agencies will ultimately be given authority to regulate CATV activities. They mentioned also legal disagreements between existing CATV companies, film producers and television broadcasters over copyrights and royalties. Movie makers are of the opinion that CATV operators should pay royalties when the signals they pick up from broadcasters relay copyrighted material.

Irving Rogers Jr. warned the board against companies which seek to tie up CATV licenses for later resale and pointed out that the company with which he is associated involves only local businessmen who are interested solely in Greater Lawrence.

Broadcaster Gowdy estimated that it would cost $1 million to begin operation of an antenna company serving Greater Lawrence communities and Salem, N. H. He said the monthly cost to customers might average around $5 and added that the company would offer the service free to schools, hospitals and shut-ins as a public service.

The board took the request for a license under advisement.

Still to be heard are representatives of Cablevision Corp. of America who have also indicated an interest in obtaining an Andover license.

New England Mutual Life Insurance Co. announced Monday that it has agreed to purchase a majority interest in Loomis, Sayles & Company Inc., the second oldest and second largest national investment management firm.

Here's a Better "Catch Up" Idea:

Only Ford offers Hardtops—formal and fastback—in 3 sizes

Ford's full-size hardtops feature top-of-the-line luxury with formal or fastback styling. XL is the classic, full-size fastback that gives you a choice of bench or bucket seats. And there's no extra cost for Ford's fastback styling! LTD, available in 2- and 4-door models, is XL's formal hardtop counterpart. All feature disappearing headlamps and strong die-cast grille at no extra cost. You'll find a choice in Galaxie 500 fastbacks and hardtops, too!

Or discover the brand-new Torino and the modestly priced Fairlane. They're the only intermediate-size hardtops that let you choose between formal or true fastback styling (at no extra cost)! Both seat six adults in total comfort. Both give you a full 116-in. wheelbase (longer than 38 competing models).

For 1968, Mustang gives you a choice of the best-selling hardtop in the world or the best known fastback of all. Only Mustang gives you all this at no extra cost: bucket seats, floor-mounted stick shift, wall-to-wall carpeting and 3-speed fully synchronized transmission.

Nobody gives you a hardtop choice like Ford. Make your choice now while your Ford Dealer makes up for lost time.
